

RM.

Terms of Service

The guiding rules for working with Anani RM.

Welcome to Anani RM. By using our website or engaging with our workflows, products, or consulting platforms via WhatsApp, you signify full agreement to the operating terms documented below.

1. Collaborative & Growth-Focused Nature

Anani RM is an emerging, highly collaborative digital service platform managed by an independent student developer. We do not run cold corporate structures; instead, we operate on a highly personalized base, dedicating 100% of our effort, focus, and technical hunger into producing beautiful, responsive code, optimized career profiles, and accurate administrative academic pathways.

By purchasing or tracking projects with us, you agree to form a close professional partnership based on open communication, mutual respect, and high transparency.

2. Flexible & Negotiable Pricing Architecture

We deeply understand the unique financial situations of local business setups, students, entry-level graduates, and Grade 12 matriculant families in South Africa. Because of this, all pricing values shown on our platform matrices serve only as starter project benchmarks.

Our Commitment: Our fees are highly flexible and open to healthy consultation on WhatsApp before active creation builds commence. We will always seek a friendly benchmark that balances high technical craftsmanship with a budget that safely accommodates your situation.

3. Client Information Authenticity

For CV restructuring, university portal data input, or tutoring checklists, you are solely responsible for ensuring that all files, historical information, profile summaries, or marks given to us are 100% authentic, correct, and legitimate. Anani RM accepts no liability for administrative application checks or rejections based on inaccurate metrics supplied by the client.

4. Continuous Support & Custom Adaptations

We are intensely focused on building long-term local relationships. We pride ourselves on giving clients total design control over their modules. We provide friendly and comprehensive project revisions during active consultation phases until you are perfectly content with the finished product.

© 2026 Anani RM Digital Agency • All Rights Reserved. Operating with Integrity, Focus, and Passion.